“ To Brett's family and friend, please know that those who worked with him knew how special he was. His bright smile and passion were always in play. Although I only worked with him for a brief time at RealPage, he is someone who had a special light and natural curiosity. I am so sorry for your loss.

“ In fond memory of Brett, my very own Captain of the SSIT Tech-Trek. With a phaser set to "innovate" and a communicator always on hand, he navigated the nebula of technology with the finesse of a seasoned Starfleet captain. I will undoubtedly miss his dedication and passion to his work and his peers.

His command of the bridge was legendary, guiding us through the warp-speed world of IT with a blend of logic and humor that would make Mr. Spock proud. And just like Scotty, they always managed to beam us out of the stickiest situations with a bit of techno-wizardry and a hearty laugh.

A friend who made the journey through the final frontier of IT a truly unforgettable adventure. Beam on, Captain. Live long and program!

“ In loving memory of Brett Hardaway, a cherished leader and friend whose vibrant spirit illuminated the halls of RealPage for three remarkable years. As a beacon of wit and boundless love, he effortlessly inspired the best in all who had the privilege to work alongside him in the Centralized Services department. His legacy of kindness and encouragement will forever remain etched in our hearts, guiding us through both joyous and challenging times. Though he may be physically absent, his impact resonates deeply within our team, a testament to the profound influence he had on each of us. Rest peacefully, Brother, knowing that your memory will continue to inspire us to strive for excellence and kindness in all we do.
