“ I love you bro from the bottom of my heart, you were so bright and special nothing could stop you from shining through at any occasion. You were my first little brother and that is something I cherished. I tried to show you things , be there for you when I needed to protect you by giving you knowledge that you could keep and would guide you through life. You had so many dreams and were well on your way. You knew how life could get rough sometimes but you told yourself that you'd see yourself through them. Now i need someone to see me through this one and you aren't here. Man if I could turn back the hands of time and change things I would tell you to just sit still and take care of whatever need to another day to buy you some more time to be here with me .I need you , but I know God has other plans you are resting in paradise was one of them .life wont be the same without you love you , big bro ❤️
